Twister Kills 5 As Bad Weather Hammers Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major autumn storm packing heavy snow, subzero temperatures and thunderstorms whipped the midcontinent today after a tornado attack left five dead Monday.

The tornadoes triggered in Oklahoma by a clash of warm and frigid air left at least 30 injured. Authorities said three of the five dead were infants.

Funnel clouds touched down in north-central and northwestern Oklahoma and in northwestern Kansas, damaging property, uprooting trees, downing power lines and overturning mobile homes.

Subzero cold stung the northern border states; heavy thunderstorms washed over the Plains; and heavy snows accumulated in the mountains of the Southwest.

A foot of snow clogged mountain areas of New Mexico, and travel became hazardous in northern sections of the state.

Thunderstorms unleashed heavy rain on the central Plains. Oklahoma City was hit by nearly two inches of rain; and Empria, Kan., and Grand Island, Neb., had well over an inch before dawn.

Snow also developed in the colder air to the west and northwest of the storm center. North Platte, Neb.; Goodland, Kan.; Denver; and Lamar, Colo., all had three inches of new snow before daybreak.

A foot of snow whitened the foothills southwest of Denver, and heavy-snow warnings were issued for the Colorado mountains for tonight.

Temperatures dipped below zero in Montana and North Dakota and into the 20s as far south as western Kansas and northern New Mexico. A coldwave warning was posted for central and southwestern Oklahoma.

A large storm with rain and snow spread into the Pacific Northwest. Storm warnings were issued for the Washington and Oregon coasts, and gales were expected south as far as northwestern California.

Dense fog covered the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and parts of the south Atlantic coastal region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 6 at Havre, Mont., to 78 at Key West, Fla., and Kingsville and Corpus Christi, Tex.

checking for leaks in the repair lines. After four hours he finished up and reported, "It's on and it's looking clean."

"The loop is up and running," Hutchinson said. "All looks great."

He said that when the secondary loop cooling fluid leaks down to a certain pressure level, it too will be reser- viced. The astronauts have been unable to locate the leak source in either system.

Another bonus from the repair work is that astronauts Pogue and Gibson will take only one space walk this week instead of two. Suits worn during space walks also are cooled by the cooling system.

Hutchinson said that without two loops working, the astronauts would have to use air cooling, which is less efficient and limits outside work to about four hours at one time.

Pogue and Gibson have about 6½ hours of work planned during a Thanksgiving day walk — replacing telescope film, repairing antennae and setting up several scientific ex- periments.

Sunday Driving Ban Eyed To Conserve Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon ad- ministration officials say a cur- tailment of Sunday driving is being considered as one way to conserve fuel.

White House energy adviser John A. Love said Monday the administration may soon require the closing of gasoline stations on Sundays.

His deputy, Charles DiBona, told a congressional joint economic com- mittee that a ban on Sunday driving and closing of public parks to automobiles are steps under con- sideration.

"Knocking out Sunday driving is a real possibility," said DiBona, the President's special assistant for fuel matters.

Asked about a ban on nonessential Sunday driving, Love said, "I don't think it is to be couched in terms of a ban" and then added that there may be an announcement on "the closing of filling stations on Sunday across the nation."

DiBona said a Sunday driving ban would save 660,000 barrels of gasoline a day. Some consideration is being given to making the ban partial so people could go to church, he said.

The administration is also con- sidering instituting Sunday blue laws to close commercial stores and shortening store hours during the week, he said.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed and sent to the House emergency energy legislation that would give President Nixon the power to order gasoline rationing.

And the House Democratic leadership responded to Nixon's criticism of Congress' performance in the energy crisis by accusing the President of "unwillingness to acknowledge the magnitude of the crisis and ... lack of any direction in dealing with it."

In other energy-related devel- opments Monday:

—Germany and Denmark joined Holland and Belgium in banning Sunday pleasure driving because of the Arab oil squeeze on Europe.

—The Pentagon announced that 27 senior Defense officials have given up their big sedans for smaller, more economical cars as a means of saving fuel. A spokesman said Defense Sec- retary James R. Schlesinger is con- sidering whether to keep his Cadillac limousine.

—Postmaster Gen. E.T. Klassen said fuel shortages may hamper mail handling during the Christmas season and beyond. He said service could suffer in December because of the elimination of 300 scheduled airplane flights per day as a fuel-saving measure.

—The Environmental Defense Fund said intercity bus lines should be exempted from 50 mile per hour speed limits. The environmental organization said intercity buses are more than twice as efficient as au- tomobiles in energy use per passenger mile.

Thanksgiving travelers may find more service stations closed this year than they did last year, but supplies of gasoline seem to be holding up well, an American Automobile Association spokesman said today.

Kay Aldous said spot checks by the nationwide organization showed no major gasoline shortages, although he said he had received reports that iso- lated service stations were limiting sales.

"The thing that should be em- phasized is that there will be no major inconveniences for holiday travel," he said. "There are no problems of fuel at this time although, over the holidays, it is likely that a number of stations will be operating on schedules similar to what they've been doing on Sunday since Labor Day."

Aldous based his prediction about more Thanksgiving closings on "a pattern that we've watched for 13 weeks."

This pattern, he said, shows an in- crease in the number of stations closing earlier in the evening and on weekends and holidays, as they had done during the gasoline shortage last summer.

Aldous said he anticipated no problems for travelers on major high- ways and turnpikes, "where many stations stay open 24 hours a day."

He said drivers in remote areas should keep their gasoline tanks at least half full. He also said drivers in those areas should cut back on night driving.

Energy Pinch Hurts Stocks

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts say growing investor concern that an energy crisis might lead to a major recession in 1974 is the factor which is sending the stock market plunging. Monday's drop of 28.67 points was the worst day for the Dow Jones average in 11 years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 in- dustrials, used widely as an indicator of general market trends, fell Monday to 862.66, the fifth largest daily drop in its history.

It was the blue chip indicator's biggest single-day loss since May 28, 1962, during a confrontation between the major steel companies and Presi- dent John F. Kennedy. It dropped 34.94 points on that occasion.

The broader based New York Stock Exchange index of 1,500 common stocks fell 1.72 to 53.76, its steepest single-day decline since its inception in July 1966.

Analysts said a further indicator of the broadness of the decline was that an extraordinary amount of New York Stock Exchange issues — 1,404 — lost ground, compared to only 198 making advances during the trading session.

"This energy crisis is very hard to quantify and investors are uncertain about it," said Alan Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "No one knows whether it means an all-out recession or wor- se."

Analysts said another factor in the major decline in the market was that the institutions — banks, insurance companies and mutual funds — which dominate it generally stood aside during the energy crisis uncertainties and did not trade.

"The institutions' normal reaction to this kind of market is to back off," said

Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp. "That leaves only the selling pressure from individuals to drive the market down."

Analysts said that helping the decline Monday were indications from the Arab countries that their oil boycott to the United States may not end soon, and reports from Wash- ington on proposals to ban Sunday sales of gasoline and limit the use of heating oil.

Analysts noted that economists have said that reductions in the amount of energy available in this country could have significant negative effects on the Gross National Product.

The Dow Jones blue chip indicator has fallen nearly 125 points since Oct. 26 in trading highlighted by volatile daily advances and declines. Analysts said it is a sign of the uncertainties the energy crisis has generated.

LE Operating Recount Done In County

There was no change in the count on the operating levy for Logan Elm School District in the recount of Saltcreek South, Saltcreek North, Pickaway East and Tarlton precincts.

Nancy Ayers, director of the Pickaway County Board of Elections, said that because of the use of voting machines there is practically no chance of an error.

The recount was conducted by Francis McGinnis, voting machine programmer; Lucille Dumm and Delbert Remy, election board mem- bers; Miss Ayers and Betty McGinnis, office manager of the board of elec- tions.

The recount was held at the request of Joseph P. LaFontaine, chairman of the Committee of Interested Voters of Logan Elm School District.

A recount will be held in Hocking County 8:30 p.m. Friday for the Logan Elm levy and for the board of education for the school district.

Carl Reichelderfer has requested the recount in the board of education race. He was defeated by one vote by Frank Seimer.

Paper ballots are used in Hocking County and there was a particularly heavy vote in Perry Twp. where a wet- dry issue was also on the ballot.

Miss Ayers and Mrs. McGinnis will be present during recount.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules committee today voted unanimously to approve the nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

The vote sends Ford's nomination to the Senate floor.

House leaders plan a final vote in that body next week.

Although no hitch has risen to confirmation by either the House or Senate, Ford's civil rights voting record and leadership capacity were challenged Monday at House hearings.

Clarence Mitchell Jr., Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said three of Ford's votes "show that he has a restricted approach to civil rights."

Taking a position for or against Ford was against NAACP policy, Mitchell told the House Judiciary Committee.

But he said he hoped congressmen, before confirming Ford, would satisfy themselves "that his posture as vice president would not be the same as it was as congressman."

Mitchell said he was confident that Ford would step in to prevent a black person from being refused entry, for example to a restaurant — but said Ford has fallen short on his civil rights voting record.

Mitchell turned over to the com- mittee an analysis of 54 civil rights votes by Ford, 28 of which the NAACP considered in favor of civil rights and 26 of which it considered against.

He said the three votes showing Ford's "restrictive approach" were on the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the Fair Housing Act of 1968 and an amendment involving the constitutionality of a House antibusing bill.

Although Ford's final votes were for both the voting rights and fair housing laws now on the books, his initial votes were for Nixon administration substi- tutes that Mitchell contended would make the two laws "largely ineffective at this time," Mitchell said.

Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D- Mass., said Congress should reject Ford's nomination because of "lack of a demonstrated capacity for leader- ship."

Acting as a stand-in for the nation's electorate, Congress should "examine

Santa Claus Is Coming To Roundtown

Santa will be coming to Circleville again this year in the annual Jaycee Christmas Parade. From the rumors we can get from his helpers, the Jolly Old Gent will arrive at 2 p.m. Friday escorted by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff.

Again this year Santa will bring a variety of bands, floats and marching groups to announce his annual visit to Roundtown. Circleville High School and Junior High School, Teays Valley and Logan Elm bands will present a marching extravaganza of Christmas music. Santa himself will grace one of the floats, most likely one containing a "sleigh and eight tiny reindeer."

Two fire engines and three marching corps will be among the paraders going along the traditional Pumpkin Show route. The parade will form at Pickaway and Franklin St. and end at Pickaway and Main.

After his exhausting parade tour, Santa will retire at his house at the corner of Court and Main St. to listen to the secret wishes of all the good little boys and girls.

Santa House hours for Friday will be after the parade until 4 p.m. and later at 6-8. Weekday hours will be 1-3 p.m. and Saturday 10-11:30 a.m. and 1-3 p.m. Evening visitors will be greeted on Friday at 6-8 p.m. Hours for the month of December will be announced later.

Space Plumbing Work Successful

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space plumbing job has increased chances the Skylab 3 astronauts will be able to complete a full 84-day orbital mission, space agency officials say. "We're feeling pretty good about it," astronaut William R. Pogue said Monday after he replenished liquid that had leaked out of a refrigeration loop. The system keeps batteries and electronic equipment from burning out.

It became inoperable during the Skylab 2 mission in August and that crew switched to a backup loop. The secondary system also has a small leak and might also have given out within a few weeks.

Loss of both cooling loops would result in early termination of the mission, said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

Skylab 3 astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and Pogue carried a repair kit and extra cooling fluid when they rocketed up to the orbiting laboratory last Friday.

The fix-it job was to have taken two hours. But Pogue had trouble punching a hole in the coolant line and in

Kennedy Son Doing Well

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 12-year-old son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is reported doing well both physically and emotionally as he continues to recuperate from the amputation of his cancerous right leg. "He is in excellent spirits and is progressing satisfactorily," a spokeswoman at Georgetown University Hospital said early today of Edward Kennedy Jr.

The youngster's leg was removed above the knee last Saturday in an effort to halt the spread of bone cancer. The hospital said more than 1,000 getwell cards and letters, plus some gifts and flowers, arrived for him Monday. Telephone inquiries also were received from England, France, Germany, Australia and Argentina.

The spokeswoman said young Kennedy spent some time out of bed Monday night, as he had Sunday. Doctors have not decided when he might be discharged, she said.

Eligibility On Saxbe Up For Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee is nearing a vote on a bill intended to remove a constitutional barrier to the appointment of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as attorney general.

The balloting was slated for the committee's closed meeting today. It also was considering action on legislation to provide for court appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he hopes both matters can be disposed of, making unnecessary a meeting previously scheduled for Wednesday on the prosecutor bill.

Saxbe's nomination to succeed Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general has been held up because of a provision of the Constitution. The provision bars appointment of Congress members to offices for which the salary was increased during their elected terms.

Saxbe was a member of the Senate in 1969 when the salary of the attorney general and other Cabinet officers was increased from $35,000 a year to $60,000.

The administration has proposed legislation to roll back the attorney general's pay to $35,000 in an effort to overcome Saxbe's disqualification for appointment to the post.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert G. Dixon, Jr., told the Judiciary Committee Monday that passage of the bill would satisfy the intent of the ineligibility provision because Saxbe would not benefit from the 1969 salary increase.

This position was supported by a Duke University law professor, William Van Alstyne, but three other law school professors testified that legislation could not overcome the Constitutional prohibition.

Nurse Sues In Wrongful Confinement

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Lexington nurse, charging she was wrongfully jailed in a case of mistaken identity in September, has filed a $1,220,000 damage suit against two bonding companies.

Phyllis Langham, a nurse at St. Joseph Hospital, charges she was arrested at the hospital Sept. 26 and then falsely jailed in Cincinnati, Ohio, for "several days."

The suit, filed Monday, says agents of the bonding companies confused her with another person sought for failing to appear in Hamilton County Municipal Court on two misdemeanor charges.

The action was filed in U.S. District Court.

The suit names as defendants Liberty Bonding Co. of Cincinnati; Allegheny Mutual Casualty Co. of Newark, N.J.; Edgar I. Schott Jr., Liberty's manager, and William Brock and Richard Rahm, Cincinnati agents of the bonding firms.

Miss Langham says Brock and Rahm handcuffed her and refused to check her identity or release her.

The suit asks $100,000 for mental anguish, $20,000 for loss of time and wages, $100,000 for impairment of power to earn money and $1 million in punitive damages.

Westfall Board Adopts Resolution Of Necessity For Middle School

A Resolution of Necessity for the Middle School proposal was adopted by the Westfall Board of Education at their regular monthly meeting last night. The levy will be resubmitted on the May 7 Primary ballot. A Certificate of results of the election on Nov. 6, showed 819 voters favored the bond issue and 873 opposed it.

Other matters before the board included the impending fuel crisis and its possible effects of the Westfall District. Superintendent Gordon Massie reported that the system had enough fuel for buses until Wednesday and the suppliers have promised to deliver. At the time of the fuel truckers' strike, the possibility of running short was prominent but the urgency has subsided at present.

School law allows five days calamity. School days missed due to fuel shortage would fall into this category. All days missed beyond five would necessitate making them up in the summer.

Allocations of fuel oil for November and December will be 75 per cent of that purchased during the same months of 1972. Massie stated that if the allocations were delivered the district would be all right. The price of the fuel oil this year is 5.09 cents per gallon higher than last year's price.

Gasoline prices have increased over last year's figure 8.63 cents per gallon. Approximately 50 gallons per day less gasoline is being used this year than last, however, the district still uses 450 gallons per day.

The board was reminded that all practical measures are being taken to conserve energy. The thermostat at the high school will be adjusted to make the heat more even and will be set lower during time when school is not in session.

Regular business including the financial statement and bills were reported to the board by the clerk. A lunchroom report showed no loss as did the report for last year.

Four buses have been ordered and the price will be less the 27 per cent state reimbursement. The Emergency forms sent home to parents were discussed and Massie reminded the board that the forms were mandated by legislature and could not have been changed.

The resignation of David Adams as bus driver was accepted by the board. Mr. Warnok is currently filling the position. Mrs. Marilyn Lemaster, Williamsport, was approved as a substitute bus driver and will be considered for the regular postion after she has completed the necessary tests and applications.

A resolution was passed to reduce the price of extra milk from eight cents to five cents.

Leave of absence for the month of November was granted to Mrs. Shirley Dean, part-time cook at Jackson.

Arrests

James A. Rader, 40, Columbus, driving while intoxicated.

Robert G. Caudill, 29, Columbus, driving while intoxicated.

Edward Forest Hart, 48, Columbus, assault with a deadly weapon.

William L. Litten, 18, 350 Walnut Creek Pike, disorderly conduct.

Mainly About People

William Jones, 217 Fourth Ave., has been transferred from the intensive care unit to room 593, St. Anthony Hospital, Columbus.

Gerald W. Hall Sr., 213 W. Corwin St., is a patient in room 501 Grant Hospital, Columbus.

Results of the administrative review of the school lunch program was read by Superintendent Massie. After a thorough investigation of the program by James Marshall of the State Department, the report was very satisfactory. Marshall stated that the lunch program was satisfactory with a variety of menus with correct nutritional value, records were sufficient and facilities clean and sanitary.

The report indicated a need for dish washing machines at Monroe and Darby and a new refrigerator at Monroe. The board decided to allow the superintendent to look into the matter and possibly secure financial assistance through the State Department for the purchasing of these items.

Substitute teacher lists seven and eight as submitted by the county superintendent were accepted. Four new substitute teachers were added with the acceptance of these two lists.

Tutoring of Steven Gabbart, an eleventh grader who was tutored last year, was approved. Approval was also granted for the tutoring of Sherry Hamrick. Sherry is a second grader at Monroe and will be in a body cast through Dec. 21.

Two personal leave days were requested after Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations. The board voted to allow Superintendent Massie to make the decision in these instances since board policy stands that such days after vacations are not allowed unless extenuating circumstances prevail.

Three requests for use of school facilities were granted. Darby youth basketball had requested to use the gymnasium 6:30-9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays Dec. 1 through March.

The Darbyville Church of the Nazarene requested use of facilities on Thursdays and Saturdays for the church basketball league. Dunlap Company asked for use of the school on Dec. 22 for the annual employe dinner. Massie pointed out to the board that no special heating arrangements will be made for these groups.

A report showed that the plaster in Mrs. Short's room at Jackson Elementary had fallen. The room has been vacated and the cause of the plaster falling was merely due to aged plaster. No weak floor joists or loose boards were present. An estimate for a false ceiling has been made and the board voted to have the false ceiling installed and to include new florescent lights in the repair work.

Superintendent Massie reminded the board of seminars available to them including one in unemployment compensation to be held Dec. 10 at the Marriott Inn, Columbus.

In closing, the board took time to express their appreciation and thanks to all who helped with the Middle School bond issue, including the door-to-door campaigners, planning committee and workers. Special thanks is extended to the voters of the Westfall District for their support.

Nurse Sues In Wrongful Confinement

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A Lexington nurse, charging she was wrongfully jailed in a case of mistaken identity in September, has filed a $1,220,000 damage suit against two bonding companies.

Phyllis Langham, a nurse at St. Joseph Hospital, charges she was arrested at the hospital Sept. 26 and then falsely jailed in Cincinnati, Ohio, for "several days."

The suit, filed Monday, says agents of the bonding companies confused her with another person sought for failing to appear in Hamilton County Municipal Court on two misdemeanor charges.

The action was filed in U.S. District Court.

The suit names as defendants Liberty Bonding Co. of Cincinnati; Allegheny Mutual Casualty Co. of Newark, N.J.; Edgar I. Schott Jr., Liberty's manager, and William Brock and Richard Rahm, Cincinnati agents of the bonding firms.

Miss Langham says Brock and Rahm handcuffed her and refused to check her identity or release her.

The suit asks $100,000 for mental anguish, $20,000 for loss of time and wages, $100,000 for impairment of power to earn money and $1 million in punitive damages.

3 Ohioans Are Texas Auto Victims

ADRIAN, Tex. (AP)—Three members of an Ohio family enroute to their new home at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., were killed Monday afternoon in a fiery truck-car collision six miles west of here.

James Ernest Ulery, 32, of Marion, Ohio; his wife, Illuminada, 27, and their daughter Cecilia Mae, 5, died within an hour after their small foreign car collided head on with a truck on Interstate 40.

James Ernest Ulery Jr., their 3-year-old son, was in serious condition Monday in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo where he was recovering from third-degree burns on his arms and abdomen.

Department of Public Safety patrolmen said the Ulery vehicle was westbound on I-40 when it collided with the truck driven by Raymond C. Newman of Amarillo.

The Ulery vehicle exploded on impact and hurtled into a culvert along side the roadway. Ulery was pinned inside the vehicle and was burned beyond recognition.

Mrs. Ulery and her daughter died en route to the hospital from multiple internal and head injuries. They were pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Roy Byrd.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Remarry And Don't Worry

DEAR ABBY: Do you think an 80-year-old man is foolish to consider remarriage? Some of my children do. I am a widower who has been alone for 12 years, during which time I have been in the company of some lovely eligible women. But I never, have wanted to marry until I met My Fair Lady. She is 65 and has been a widow for 10 years.

We are both in reasonably good health, and we would like to spend the rest of our lives together, making each other happy. All our children are married. Some approve of our plans to marry; some do not.

I own my own home and have a little money. In view of the mixed feelings of our children, should we sneak off and get married by a preacher with just a few friends as witnesses? Or should we have a small church wedding, invite all the children, and let those who want to, come, and those who don't, stay home?

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: Why sneak—Do whatever pleases you and your Fair Lady. The last thing you should worry about is what your children think.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I are both 17. When Lydia does something to displease her parents, they make her stand in a corner.

A couple of times when I've come to take her out on a date, her father has said: "Lydia can leave in about 10 minutes after she's through standing in the corner." So I just sit and cool my heels while Lydia stands in the corner with her face to the wall.

I think this is a ridiculous way to punish a 17-year-old girl, but of course it's not my place to butt in.

Are you familiar with this stupid punishment? And if so, what's the reason for it? And what do you think of using it on a 17-year-old?

FEELING WEIRD IN MD.

DEAR WEIRD: Yes, I'm familiar with it. It's a very effective way to make a child settle down and reflect on the reason he's being punished. But to use it on a girl of dating age, in the presence of her date, I think is cruel and unusual punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Our church recently installed a set of "chimes"—a large tape player and four huge speakers, mounted on top of the church. The

MT. PLEASANT GRANGE

Mt. Pleasant Grange met in regular session Nov. 14 in the 4-H and Grange Building. The worthy Master, Lewis Dean, presided over the business meeting.

A flea market and bake sale is planned for Dec. 1, beginning at 10 a.m. at the 4-H and Grange Building. Proceeds from the project will go to the Friendly Hills Camp.

The County Grange Banquet will be held also on Dec. 1 at 6:30 p.m. A carry-in dinner will be served.

Plans were finished for the Christmas dinner at the next regular meeting on Dec. 12. The Grange will furnish turkey, rolls and coffee. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish. There will be a $1 gift exchange.

Cards were signed to be sent to Mrs. Paul Counts and Mr. and Mrs. John Moss who are ill.

Mrs. Frank Palmer was in charge of the literary program with "Thanksgiving" as the theme for the presentations. Offering their share of the program were Mrs. George Mallett with "A New Land," Mrs. Darrell Hatfield, "The Art of Thanksgiving," Mrs. Galen Mowery, "Harvest Moon" and Mrs. Frank Palmer, "For Thanksgiving."

A game entitled "Thanksgiving" was played by the Grangers and won by Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner.

Mrs. Darrell Hatfield showed beautiful pictures of Williamsburg and Monticello that she and her family took on a recent trip.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dean.

OSU Rules Out

Artificial Snow Use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University students who want to ski this winter had better hope for snow. Officials have ruled the snow-making machines won't be used this year, because they use too much fuel.

"Making snow for the season would burn an amount of fuel that would run the university's entire bus system for a month," the school said in a fact sheet about its conservation efforts.

music is all hymns, played on an organ with loud bells. They play it at least once a day from 15 to 45 minutes, and sometimes it's played three times a day.

This can be heard all over town, and people who live four miles away from town say they are disturbed by it, too.

I live near the church, and this is pretty hard to take. It's impossible to carry on a conversation (in our house, mind you.) and this music is too loud to be considered pretty.

I think church music belongs IN church. If teen-agers played their rock music this loud at a party, the police would break up the party and charge the kids with disturbing the peace.

This is a small town. My peace is disturbed. I am a taxpayer senior citizen who has asked the pastor of the church to please tone the music down. He did for a while. Now it's as loud as ever. Maybe if you print this, it will help.

Self Expression

When famous football players become devotees of needlepoint and other men take up hobbies such as building intricate designs from tiny sea shells, crocheting or even dressmaking, what does it mean? It means the craft industry which has blossomed in the last five years still has many yards to go.

People are flocking to handiwork hobbies almost in epidemic fashion. Book publishers who only five years ago found virtually no market for craft books report such volumes today are repeatedly among their best sellers.

Accurate figures on the volume of business represented by arts and crafts are difficult to come by, so rapidly is the industry growing, but it is obviously well into the hundreds of millions of dollars. One of the fastest growing types of small businesses are those which specialize in craft items.

What is it all about? The usual explanation is that a number of people are souring on the "plasticized society" and are looking for original expression. Don't be surprised if Christmas cards show more originality this year. Doing it yourself is growing in that field also.

Remembrance Of JFK Things

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dave Powers, who rated him up there among the latter day saints, remembered some tough and tender things about JFK as the tenth anniversary of the assassination drew near. Next to Bobby, Dave was the President's closest confidante.

"Everybody remembers his Inaugural speech, you know the business about 'Ask not what your country can do for you,'" Dave said. "But I think he made an even better one when the University of Maine gave him an L.L.D. in October, 1963. It was the first anniversary of his showdown with Khrushchev over the Cuban missiles. He was a real authority on history, as you know, and on this occasion his thoughts went back to a small but terrible dialogue between two forgotten German chancellors, Prince Bernhard Bulow and Bethmann-Hollweg.

"In the ruins of World War I, Bulow is supposed to have asked Bethmann-Hollweg, 'How did it happen?' and the only reply the other fellow could give was 'Ah, if anyone knew...' At the university exercise, the President said, in effect, 'If we had gone to war, 300,000,000 might now be dead in the United States, the Soviet Union and Europe — all killed in a senseless exchange of thermonuclear bombs over a period of 60 minutes. Nothing could have been worse for those who might have had a hand in that war than to hear a survivor of that chaos, fire and poison ask 'How did it happen?' and another answer, 'Ah, if anyone knew...'"

Powers shared the young President's troubled times.

"I wasn't in on the meetings of the Executive Committee of the National Security Council during the Cuban crisis, naturally, 'Dave remembers. "But he'd tell me how they were coming along... who was for bombing the missile sites, who was for bombing followed by invasion.

"One day we were having our swim in the White House pool, always kept at 90 degrees to help his bum back. Funny place to hear what he was saying. He was saying, 'We can't bomb those missile sites. They're operated by Russians, not Castro's people. If we bombed Russians, it would be an entirely new ball game.'"

"It didn't come out in his public remarks, but he had a big thing about kids... Not only his own but kids in general. Any time he talked about war, let's say it was around the time of the Cuban crisis, he'd always get around to what a war — any war — would mean to kids.

"I remember something he did very early on the morning of August 9, 1963. The new baby, Patrick Bouvier, was in that big iron lung at the Children's Hospital in Boston. It looked very bad. The doctors suggested that it would be better if the President stayed in the hospital overnight. It was around three or four in the morning when they woke me up and told me I'd better tell the President to get up and come downstairs to the lung.

"He got right up and dressed and we were walking that way when we passed through a ward and he noticed a badly burned little baby. He asked a nurse about her and got the details. Then he borrowed the White House pad I always carried with me, put it against the wall and scribbled a note to the baby's mother.

"It read something like, 'We have just seen your dear Sandra. She looks awful sweet.' (Sandra's 12 now, a beautiful blonde girl.)

"Then he went down to that big lung, and he was there when Patrick died."

"But it wasn't all sadness," Dave said. "There were laughs, too. Lots of them. Like the time his friend Barry Goldwater — who is a fine man with a camera — took some great shots of him. The President autographed one of them. He autographed it, 'To Barry Goldwater, whom I urge to follow the career for which he has shown so much talent — Photography.' And the time Bob Hope came to the White House to receive a medal that had been voted to him by the Congress at the President's suggestion. The President said to Hope, 'This is one of the only bills we've gotten through lately.'"

Did he have a premonition about Dallas?

"Yes and No," Dave said, having given a decade of thought to that point without quite resolving it. "I heard him say more than once that as much as he admired the Secret Service they could never really protect him from, say, some nut with a rifle and a telescopic sight.

"I also heard him say, once when his back was giving him hell, 'I've got such a short time. I intend to do what has to be done, or die trying.' He was doing what had to be done when he died; he was campaigning in a difficult state. I've since felt that he must have been surprised when the first bullet hit him in the back. I was just behind him, so I couldn't see his face. But he must have looked surprised. He had once said that if he got hit it would be in some crowded place with a lot of people making lots of noise. But it was pretty quiet there in front of the school book place. ... And he was just about home free."

For the second year in a row the Pickaway County Community Fund went over its goal. It was announced by L. D. Varble, campaign chairman, that a total of $28,765.64 had been collected—topping the $28,500 goal by $265.

Pickaway County laid claim to having the largest number of chickens under one roof in the state of Ohio with the opening of the Bowers, Margulis and Cromley Commercial Egg Production plant.

The "egg factory" was located two miles north of Circleville on old Route 23, behind the New Circleville Motel. According to manager, George Bowers Jr., Route 3, more than 14,000 chickens were under the roof of the most modern chicken "house" in the state.

Industry, Utilities Use Most Energy

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Energy saved by millions of U.S. families represents a drop in the bucket, according to Thomas P. O'Boyle, president of Ecodyne Corp.

O'Boyle said, to business and trade editors attending an Energy Resources Roundtable here, that the solution to the energy crisis is up to industries and utilities. He said these two major consumers of energy must expand existing technology.

"But you always say what I don't know won't hurt me."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My father has an infection in his toe. Every day he wraps a bandage around it.

We know this has been going on for months. We can't get him to do anything else about it.

Can't this become serious if it's neglected like this?

Miss K. N., Pa.

Dear Miss N.:

It sounds as if your father is hiding from himself, from you, and from his doctor the fact that he has an ulcer of the toe. He is playing with dynamite if he continues to neglect this condition.

Applying salves, ointments, and covering the ulcer are merely playing ostrich, and this neglects finding the underlying cause.

In older people, particularly, varicose veins, diabetes, blood clots, arteriosclerosis, and neurological disorders can be responsible for ulcers of the toes.

The failure to heal is particularly dangerous because poor circulation, compounded with infection, may cause gangrene and desperately severe complications.

The healing of any ulcer depends on increasing the blood circulation. This can be done only if the underlying factors are removed.

Tobacco causes spasm of the blood vessels and, in sensitive people, may be responsible for the failure of ulcers to heal. Many of these ulcers originate with an injury, a break in the skin, or by paring a corn or callus.

It is imperative that you induce your father to sensibly seek the medical attention he urgently needs. He is headed for trouble if he continues to neglect this most serious problem.

I notice that I must get up during the night to urinate more frequently than I formerly did.

How can this be eliminated?

MR. R. T., R.I.

Dear Mr. T.:

Low-grade infection, or inflammation of the urinary bladder, is known as cystitis.

This is a common reason for frequency of urination in both men and women.

Excessive fluid intake during the evening hours, large quantities of coffee, tea, beer or other alcoholic beverages may be responsible.

Some drugs can also cause a sense of urgency and frequency.

An enlarged prostate gland is one of the most common causes for this condition. People so afflicted often feel that they have not completely emptied the bladder, even after having urinated.

Examination by a physician can readily determine if the prostate is the cause of your problem. Some enlargements of the prostate respond well to medication and massage.

Certainly the condition should be looked into.

NEW YORK (AP)—The question no longer is whether or not there is an energy shortage. There is. The controversy now, at least among economists, concerns our reaction to the shortage.

The answer is a critical one because the assumption made dictates the action advocated. It is here that the pros, who generally agree that the country will soon be flirting with recession, go their separate ways.

Walter Heller, former Kennedy administration economic adviser and now a University of Minnesota professor, disagrees with Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, who believes the public is over-reacting.

"Over-reacting? Indeed not," said Heller. "The energy shortage could actually convert a mild economic expansion into something that looks like a recession."

Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago, an advocate of free markets, a Republican and a forecaster of recession even before the Mideast oil embargo, believes the nation has "enormously exaggerated" the shortage.

Total crude oil consumption costs $40 billion a year, he explained. The anticipated shortfall of 10 per cent reduces that by $4 billion, or just four-tenths of 1 per cent of the nation's gross national product.

And yet, he adds, "the stock market has been saying a reduction of four-tenths of 1 per cent over the next two or three years reduces the value of American enterprise by 1 per cent. It makes no sense."

Friedman believes Washington has produced some of the exaggerated mood, "because of the silly, foolish, arbitrary things they're contemplating." He referred to rationing, taxing and the like.

"Simply allow prices to rise. Get Washington off the back of the economy. A 10 to 15 per cent price rise will eliminate the shortage as a serious problem," he said. It will, he said, be an incentive to produce, an incentive to conserve.

Paul Samuelson, the Nobel laureate at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, maintains that if there is a shortage of energy its availability should be restricted, but not in ways that would reduce incentives.

One technique he believes should at least be considered is ration tickets that could be sold legally in a "white" rather than black market. That is, an individual who chose not to pay high prices could sell his tickets to someone who urgently needed and was willing to pay for them.

He would consider combining this technique with price increases for the producer and a retail tax, the proceeds going to public transit and research into the liquefaction and gasification of coal.

Leif Olsen, vice president and economist of First National City Bank in New York, believes the situation is exaggerated, although he too foresees a recession if the oil boycott continues more than six months.

It is a severe problem, he concedes, but he says some estimates of the consequences, such as 8 per cent unemployment, "are just not real."

"In order to produce 8 per cent unemployment in the second quarter of 1974," he said, "you'd have to have an annual rate of decline of 14 to 18 per cent in the first two quarters." Nothing like that has happened in decades.

Albert Sindinger, the consumer opinion pollster, claims that despite what some administration officials might believe, "the people are discounting what they see in the press. People were prepared for this."

Sindinger's continuous surveys of consumer opinion support his present view. "I expected the energy crisis would really depress consumer confidence," he said. "I expected a fantastic decline, but we got an increase."

Self Expression

When famous football players become devotees of needlepoint and other men take up hobbies such as building intricate designs from tiny sea shells, crocheting or even dressmaking, what does it mean? It means the craft industry which has blossomed in the last five years still has many yards to go.

People are flocking to hand-work hobbies almost in epidemic fashion. Book publishers who only five years ago found virtually no market for craft books report such volumes today are repeatedly among their best sellers.

Accurate figures on the volume of business represented by arts and crafts are difficult to come by, so rapidly is the industry growing, but it is obviously well into the hundreds of millions of dollars. One of the fastest growing types of small businesses are those which specialize in craft items.

What is it all about? The usual explanation is that a number of people are souring on the "plasticized society" and are looking for original expression. Don't be surprised if Christmas cards show more originality this year. Doing it yourself is growing in that field also.

Remembrance Of JFK Things

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Dave Powers, who rated him up there among the latter day saints, remembered some tough and tender things about JFK as the tenth anniversary of the assassination drew near. Next to Bobby, Dave was the President's closest confidante.

"Everybody remembers his Inaugural speech, you know the business about 'Ask not what your country can do for you,'" Dave said. "But I think he made an even better one when the University of Maine gave him an I.J.D. in October, 1963. It was the first anniversary of his showdown with Khrushchev over the Cuban missiles. He was a real authority on history, as you know, and on this occasion his thoughts went back to a small but terrible dialogue between two forgotten German chancellors, Prince Bernhard Bulow and Bethmann-Hollweg.

"In the ruins of World War I, Bulow is supposed to have asked Bethmann-Hollweg, 'How did it happen?' and the only reply the other fellow could give was 'Ah, if anyone knew . . .'. At the university exercise, the President said, in effect, 'If we had gone to war, 300,000,000 might now be dead in the United States, the Soviet Union and Europe — all killed in a senseless exchange of thermonuclear bombs over a period of 60 minutes. Nothing could have been worse for those who might have had a hand in that war than to hear a survivor of that chaos, fire and poison ask 'How did it happen?' and another answer, 'Ah, if anyone knew . . .'."

Powers shared the young President's troubled times.

"I wasn't in on the meetings of the Executive Committee of the National Security Council during the Cuban crisis, naturally, 'Dave remembers. "But he'd tell me how they were coming along . . . who was for bombing the missile sites, who was for bombing followed by invasion.

"One day we were having our swim in the White House pool, always kept at 90 degrees to help his bum back. Funny place to hear what he was saying. He was saying, 'We can't bomb those missile sites. They're operated by Russians, not Castro's people. If we bombed Russians, it would be an entirely new ball game.'"

"It didn't come out in his public remarks, but he had a big thing about kids . . . Not only his own but kids in general. Any time he talked about war, let's say it was around the time of the Cuban crisis, he'd always get around to what a war — any war — would mean to kids.

"I remember something he did very early on the morning of August 9, 1963. The new baby, Patrick Bouvier, was in that big iron lung at the Children's Hospital in Boston. It looked very bad. The doctors suggested that it would be better if the President stayed in the hospital overnight. It was around three or four in the morning when they woke me up and told me I'd better tell the President to get up and come downstairs to the lung.

"He got right up and dressed and we were walking that way when we passed through a ward and he noticed a badly burned little baby. He asked a nurse about her and got the details. Then he borrowed the White House pad I always carried with me, put it against the wall and scribbled a note to the baby's mother.

"It read something like, 'We have just seen your dear Sandra. She looks awful sweet.' (Sandra's 12 now, a beautiful blonde girl.)

"Then he went down to that big lung, and he was there when Patrick died . . ."

"But it wasn't all sadness," Dave said. "There were laughs, too. Lots of them. Like the time his friend Barry Goldwater — who is a fine man with a camera — took some great shots of him. The President autographed one of them. He autographed it, 'To Barry Goldwater, whom I urge to follow the career for which he has shown so much talent — Photography.' And the time Bob Hope came to the White House to receive a medal that had been voted to him by the Congress at the President's

Roger Hott, a 19-year-old sophomore clarinetist at Eastern Kentucky University, will represent Kentucky in the orchestral wind instrument division of the Regional College Concert Auditions at Birmingham, Ala. in February.

Hott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hott, Route 3, won at the state level in October during the Kentucky Music Teachers Associations convention held on the Eastern Campus.

At ECU, Roger is a student of Mr. Earl M. Thomas and is majoring in music performances and music education. He is a member of the Marching Maroon Band, the Chamber Wind Ensemble and plays principal clarinet in the ECU Symphony Orchestra. He belongs to Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia (a professional music fraternity) and Kappa Iota Epsilon (sophomore men's honor society).

A graduate of Teays Valley High School, Roger plays the saxophone and has been a music student since the fifth grade.

He will be among 57 other sophomores to be honored with certificates at a reception Nov. 28 by the ECU chapter of the Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi for demonstrating outstanding scholastic achievement. Those receiving honors have attained a grade point standing of 3.7 or higher on a 4.0 scale.

Dale Hukill, son of Mrs. Ruth Hukill, 916 Lincoln Drive, is doing his student teaching at Morrisville High School, Morrisville, Penn. He is a senior at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N.J.

Selected from over 200 students who audition for a position on the Bowling Green State University Marching Band, June Brudzinski, a freshmen operations research major, is one of the 117 marching members. June is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brudzinski, 220 Walnut Creek Pike.

A 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, she was active in the band. The Falcon Marching Band is one of the major organizations on campus and requires more than musical and marching talent. For ten days before classes start, the band practices nine hours daily and ten to 14 hours weekly after classes begin.

The band gave its final football performance at the game against Northern Illinois Nov. 17 and a Marching Band Concert in the Grand Ballroom Nov. 19.

Ohio State University has issued its honor roll for the summer quarter listing names of three area residents who are undergraduate students. To be named to the honor roll, students must receive an average of at least 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and be enrolled for at least 12 credit hours.

Receiving honor roll status was Daniel Alan Chrismer, Route 1, Ashville. John Edward Myers, Route 5 and Dona Sue Straley, Williamsport, were among the students receiving straight A's during the quarter.

Another area resident who is attending OSU received scholastic honors. Mary E. Moorehead, daughter of Mrs. David Morehead, Amanda, was one of the home economics students to be recognized during the annual Honors Banquet.

The Honors Program recognizes outstanding scholars in the college who have maintained high scholastic achievement in all courses undertaken.

Ann Elizabeth Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Ayers, 356 Juhl Road, was among the 683 students named to the 1973 spring semester honor roll in the College of Natural Sciences at the University of Texas.

Ann's scholastic achievement fell into the Cum Laude category on the honor roll list.

Monday was the first day of relative calm since the rioting. Soldiers and police picked up scores of youths, workers and local union leaders for allegedly violating the martial law restrictions.

Some were later set free. But others got stiff sentences from the military tribunals, including prison terms of four and five years for six construction workers convicted of assembling in a group of more than five.

Spyridon Zournatis, undersecretary to Premier Spyros Markezinis, said 204 persons have been detained since the rioting.

As Athenians looked back on the disorders, there was disagreement about who led them. Both youths and construction workers took part in the Pro-government newspapers said hard-core leftists financed from abroad were responsible for the occupation of the Athens Polytechnic Institute late last week by thousands of young demonstrators. The institute became a rallying point for the protesters until police and troops stormed in just after midnight Saturday to seize control.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Butler County authorities have ruled that Anna Smith, 70, died of accidental drowning Monday near a Pisgah rest home, where she lived.

Her body was found in a pond near the rest home.

There was also confusion about who the institute's occupiers were. The deputy dean — the dean has been arrested — said Monday that the majority of the occupiers were non-students. But reporters who visited the school during the occupation said the majority were students, although not all from the Polytechnic. There also were a number of persons well past university age, reporters said.

Double Vote Explained

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—No criminal action will be taken against a Saineville couple who admitted they voted twice in the Nov. 6 general election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and the Columbiana County Board of Elections decided against action following a public hearing Monday.

Testimony disclosed that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindesmith voted in Washington Township and then, realizing that they did not get to vote in the Saineville council races, went to Precinct A in the village and voted again.

Precinct workers testified the couple told them they had previously voted in the township but would try to have those ballots invalidated. The Lindesmiths said they were unaware at the time that once their votes were cast there was no way to have them invalidated.

Campus Notes

Roger Hott, a 19-year-old sophomore clarinetist at Eastern Kentucky University, will represent Kentucky in the orchestral wind instrument division of the Regional College Concert Auditions at Birmingham, Ala. in February.

A 1973 graduate of Circleville High School, she was active in the band. The Falcon Marching Band is one of the major organizations on campus and requires more than musical and marching talent. For ten days before classes start, the band practices nine hours daily and ten to 14 hours weekly after classes begin.

The band gave its final football performance at the game against Northern Illinois Nov. 17 and a Marching Band Concert in the Grand Ballroom Nov. 19.

go back on the streets when the army leaves. There were about 15,000 demonstrators active at the height of the disorders last week and during the weekend, which left 11 persons dead and at least 148 injured.

Monday was the first day of relative calm since the rioting. Soldiers and police picked up scores of youths, workers and local union leaders for allegedly violating the martial law restrictions.

Some were later set free. But others got stiff sentences from the military tribunals, including prison terms of four and five years for six construction workers convicted of assembling in a group of more than five.

Spyridon Zournatis, undersecretary to Premier Spyros Markezinis, said 204 persons have been detained since the rioting.

As Athenians looked back on the disorders, there was disagreement about who led them. Both youths and construction workers took part in the protests. The hardhats are considered by some Greeks to be a heavily leftist element although they are among the best paid workers in the country with salaries ranging up to $30 per day.

Pro-government newspapers said hard-core leftists financed from abroad were responsible for the occupation of the Athens Polytechnic Institute late last week by thousands of young demonstrators. The institute became a rallying point for the protesters until police and troops stormed in just after midnight Saturday to seize control.

Woman, 70, Drowns At Rest Home

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Butler County authorities have ruled that Anna Smith, 70, died of accidental drowning Monday near a Pisgah rest home, where she lived.

Her body was found in a pond near the rest home.

There was also confusion about who the institute's occupiers were. The deputy dean — the dean has been arrested — said Monday that the majority of the occupiers were non-students. But reporters who visited the school during the occupation said the majority were students, although not all from the Polytechnic. There also were a number of persons well past university age, reporters said.

News Of Interest To Women
6 The Circleville Herald, Tuesday November 20, 1973

RIF IN ACTION — Mrs. Sue Schiff and several of her reading students from Mound St. School look over some samples of the RIF books they will be receiving after AAUW reaches its goal for this year's project.

'Reading Is Fundamental'
AAUW Project For All Schools

Local American Assn. of University Women is currently seeking funds to expand a highly successful reading program which they introduced into the Circleville City Schools last winter.

RIF (Reading Is Fundamental) is a national program founded by Margaret McNamara, whose principal aim is to motivate children to read, especially those who have never owned a book. This is accomplished by giving to such children a number of paperback books which they may select and keep.

Last year there were 175 children served by the AAUW sponsored project here last year. These children made up the Title I Reading Classes at Mound St., High St., South Court and Corwin St. Elementary Schools in grades one through six. Each child selected three books to keep.

Questionnaires sent home to parents, letters from the children and response from the teachers all indicated that the program was successful in motivating these children to read.

This year the AAUW hopes to expand RIF to serve Title I students in all three county school districts. However this will require more than four times the amount of money spent on last year's program. A goal of $1,100 must be reached to provide the additional books needed.

Contributions totaling $161 have this far been received from Child Conservation League, Kiwanis, Logan Elm Garden Club, Knights of Columbus, Jr. Women's Club and Circleville LaSertoma, in addition to a special $25 gift given to AAUW president, Jean Droste, by the Ohio Division of AAUW. The Circleville branch was selected from among 84 Ohio branches to receive this contribution.

The Ford Foundation in Washington D.C. provides all funds for the national RIF program, whose offices are located in the Smithsonian Institute. The purpose of the national headquarters is to assist local communities in setting up their own projects.

The motto of the national RIF program is "If America is to grow up thinking, reading is fundamental." Mrs. McNamara believes that illiteracy in the United States could be wiped out in only six years if the RIF program were expanded to meet the needs of all non-reading children in the nation. Projects now exist in over 128 communities across the nation.

Questions regarding the local project can be answered by calling Mrs. Droste at 474-3424 or Marsha Schneider, project chairman at 474-8759.

The United States Army has announced a new two-year enlistment option.

The option offers either training in a skill of the applicant's choosing, or assignment in Europe following successful completion of required training in a skill selected by the Army. The option includes training in over 120 occupational areas and is open to male and female applicants.

Major General John Q. Henion, Commander of the U.S. Army Recruiting Command said the new option "reflects an exciting opportunity for young men and women to experience a valuable addition to their lives and at the same time render an important national service.

"Our research indicates there are a good many young men and women in this country who would enlist in the Volunteer Army if they could arrange a two-year tour as an initial enlistment," he said. "Many feel that three years is just too large a commitment. They regard two years as an ideal length of time in which to do some traveling and thinking and pick up some valuable learning." The United States Army has announced a new two-year enlistment option.

The option offers either training in a skill of the applicant's choosing, or assignment in Europe following successful completion of required training in a skill selected by the Army. The option includes training in over 120 occupational areas and is open to male and female applicants.

Major General John Q. Henion, Commander of the U.S. Army Recruiting Command said the new option "reflects an exciting opportunity for young men and women to experience a valuable addition to their lives and at the same time render an important national service."

"Our research indicates there are a good many young men and women in this country who would enlist in the Volunteer Army if they could arrange a two-year tour as an initial enlistment," he said. "Many feel that three years is just too large a commitment. They regard two years as an ideal length of time in which to do some traveling and thinking and pick up some valuable learning." Logan Elm Opens Season Tonight; Hosts Teays Valley

Logan Elm High School opens the 1973-74 basketball season tonight hosting Teays Valley.

"They'll be the toughest team we'll play all season," LE coach Dave Little believes.

With only two returning letterman Little reports he is "extremely enthusiastic about this season."

"We lack varsity experience but we'll improve as the season progresses. We have had three scrimmages and have improved with each scrimmage."

The two returning lettermen on the Logan Elm squad are seniors Terry

Crumley, a 5-foot 10-inch guard and Scott Bower, a 6-foot forward-center. The only other senior on the squad is George Baughman, a 6-foot forward.

Juniors, all of whom played a lot on last year's 14-4 reserve team are: Matt Martin, 5-foot-9; Mitch Martin, 6-foot-3; Scott Pontius, 6-foot-1; Joe Stump, 6-foot-1; Derck Morris, 5-foot-11; Phil Manson, 5-foot-8; Donny Bethel, 5-foot-9; Brian Barr, 5-foot-11; sophomore Mike Miller, 6-foot-5.

The starting lineup will include the Martin brothers, Mitch and Matt, Crumley, Stump and Pontius. Matt Martin and Crumley are the guards, Mitch Martin the center and Pontius and Stump the forwards. Manson, Morris and Bethel should see a lot of action at guard while Miller, Bower, Baughman and Barr will add depth to the inside game.

"We don't have any really outstanding individuals. These boys work together as a unit which should give us a big advantage," according to Little.

"We don't have the shooting we had last year with Tim Justice and Tom Sykes gone, but we definitely have better overall balance. We have seven boys who can definitely score and our big men our better shooters."

"You should see us working the ball to the inside more this year."

Defensively Little says the team is already ahead of last year's squad. An advocate of the man-to-man he notes that everybody now has an understanding of what he is looking for on defense.

The Braves will be competing in the Mid State League in basketball for the first time and Little says LE has to be considered a contender.

Canal Winchester presently looks like the favorite in the league with

Bloom-Carroll, Millersport and Fisher Catholic all "dark horses."

The Mid State is a 10-team league. The Braves play five teams twice and four teams once. The schedule is compiled by the league and each year the teams played twice rotate. Officials are also assigned by the league.

With the 14-game league schedule, the Braves meet only four teams outside the league. These are Teays Valley, Huntington and two teams that will appear in the LE holiday tournament (Westfall, Zane Trace or Amanda-Clearcreek.)

The Mid State is a better balanced league than the Scioto Valley Conference Little states.

He notes the Braves will be playing in a lot of small gyms which will be a definite disadvantage.

Friday, LE will participate in the Mid State Preview which includes Lancaster varsity and reserves.

"Games" are scheduled every 45 minutes beginning at 5:30 p.m. with the last session to start at 9:15. Logan Elm will play Berne Union in the preview at 7 p.m.

Tri captains of the team are Terry Crumley, Scott Pontius and George Baughman.

Here is the schedule:

Nov. 20	Teays Valley
Dec. 1	Huntington
Dec. 7	Fisher Catholic
Dec. 14	at Liberty Union
Dec. 18	Fairfield Union
Dec. 21	at Berne Union

Some of our business customers have been considering the purchase of their own phones. We are the first to admit that there are advantages to owning telephone equipment—if you're a phone company. We've done it for years. However, what's good for us is not necessarily good for you.

A telephone system starts out costing big money. (You're buying more than just a black plastic box with a dial on it.) And it never increases in value. The longer you use it the more it depreciates. And so does your original capital investment.

Then, there's maintenance. For a simple system you'll call in outside help now and then. A very complex set-up may require that you put a man on staff so your vital communications don't grind to a halt in the midst of a business day.

As you can see, owning a phone system is not as simple as it may seem. We've spent decades at it. That's why we can provide your business with the service, equipment and expert advice you need.

Call us for a consultation. There is no extra charge for information. And, of course, there's no obligation to buy any equipment.

Northwest Ohio All-Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stu Stearns of Bowling Green is the Ohio Northwestern high school football Class AAA Coach of the Year and heads a list of Associated Press all-star selections for that area.

Stearns guided Bowling Green to a 10-0-0 campaign and a semifinal berth in the state playoffs after a 2-8 season last year.

A district panel of sports writers and broadcasters named Mike Snyder of Lima Bath (9-0-1) the Class AA area Coach of the Year and Hobie Krouse of Montpelier (8-1) as the leading Class A mentor.

Juilliard Quartet Gets New Cellist

NEW YORK (AP) — The Juilliard String Quartet will have a new cellist next season.

He is Joel Krosnick, 32, currently artist-in-residence at the California Institute of the Arts. Born in New Haven, Conn., this season Krosnick gave the U.S. premiere of the chamber version of Gyorgy Ligeti's "Cello Concerto" in Los Angeles. Next season he is scheduled for the U.S. premiere of Peter Maxwell Davies's "Concerto for Cello, Solo Dancer and Orchestra."

Claus Adam, who has been cellist with the quartet for the past 18 years, is withdrawing to devote more time to teaching and composing.

Other members are Robert Mann, violin, the only original member from the founding in 1947, Earl Carlyss, violin, who joined in 1966, and Samuel Rhodes, viola, who joined in 1969.

Two Diggings For Subway

ROME (AP) — Rome's subway system, slated to be finished in 1960, is still far from completion. One of the problems is that the city is built on top of a storehouse of ruins. When engineers turn something up, all digging stops and the spot often becomes a national monument.

The earth's outer shell is 25 miles thick.

intended meanings. Do not hesitate to call in clever associates for more ideas. Day needs collaboration, teamwork.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run—and bring you satisfaction as well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Creative interests stimulated. Your ideas are not only inspirational but highly feasible. Also favored: Romance and family concerns.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): You may be concerned about the "whys and wherefores" of certain events. Insights ARE available, but you'll need the help and knowledge of a close associate to attain them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A brand new financial start indicated—accompanied by high hopes, which CAN be realized. You MUST take the initiative, however—and confidently.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Follow up a potentially good tip you once brushed aside—but not impulsively or unprepared. For best results, you MUST have a definite plan.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You may be attracted to an individual who seems aloof, indifferent. Making a gesture of friendship could prove to be an important move in changing the situation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Permit others to "be themselves." The Pisces rarely tries to dominate, but such inclinations prevail now.

Be especially receptive to ideas from your mate or business associates.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great strength of purpose and the acumen needed to handle big enterprises; also, unlike many of your Sign, the patience for tedious tasks. Scorpio is a Sign of resolution, determination and that "sixth sense" so valuable in handling emergencies. Once you curb your tendencies toward overaggressiveness, your innate vision and industriousness will help you to climb the steepest hills. You have a keen sense of the dramatic and could succeed in the theater—especially as an actor or playwright; have considerable inventive ability and gifts for music, dancing and writing. Birthdate of: Francois Voltaire, French poet, dramatist; Desire Cardinal Mercier, Belgian hero, World War I; Stan Musial, baseball player.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — More negotiations are afoot this month and the next as the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists tries to reach agreement with the three networks on new contracts.

AFTRA's current one-year pact with CBS, NBC and ABC expired quietly last Thursday, but the contracts are being extended daily while the talks continue, union officials say.

There's no indication a strike is coming, although Sanford "Bud" Wolff, AFTRA's national executive secretary, notes that a strike is always a possibility during any contract negotiations.

The only AFTRA strike occurred in March 1967 and lasted 13 days before an agreement was reached with the three networks.

The union, which claims 29,000 members nationally, represents not only performers and announcers but also the newsmen and anchor-men at the networks and network-owned broadcast outlets.

Wolff said AFTRA is seeking the three-year contract it usually has with the networks. Its old one-year pact was made in hope the federal wage freeze would have thawed by now, he added.

One of AFTRA's more prominent members—Dick Cavett—has negotiating problems of his own with ABC. The network has proposed putting his late-hour talk show on only one night every two weeks, starting in January.

John Gilroy, producer of Cavett's critically acclaimed but low-rated program, described Cavett as "surprised" by the proposal. He said the star was making counterproposals that can't be made public during negotiations with ABC.

Cavett's show began on a five-night-a-week basis in late 1969 but was cut back to one week a month last January as part of ABC's new late-hour "Wide World of Entertainment" format.

Gilroy was asked if he thought ABC was trying to give Cavett, whose contract-renewal option with ABC expired Nov. 1, what some might call the old heave-ho. "No, from the talks we've had with ABC, they've been very sincere in their desire to keep Dick on the air," he said.

He said ABC told Cavett it wanted to make the proposed move to increase the number of specials—and, I might add, the ratings—on its "Wide World" effort against NBC's "Tonight" show.

ABC declined to comment on all this during the negotiations. But stay tuned. Cavett has survived one near-cancellation, and he may well survive the proposed reduction this time.

In the communist society on mainland China, there is no tipping. According to Emmett Dedmon, author of "China Journal," published by Rand McNally, "It is considered an insult if you offer a tip." There is no bargaining, either. All prices are fixed by the state.

NEW YORK (AP) — More negotiations are afoot this month and the next as the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists tries to reach agreement with the three networks on new contracts.

AFTRA's current one-year pact with CBS, NBC and ABC expired quietly last Thursday, but the contracts are being extended daily while the talks continue, union officials say.

There's no indication a strike is coming, although Sanford "Bud" Wolff, AFTRA's national executive secretary, notes that a strike is always a possibility during any contract negotiations.

The only AFTRA strike occurred in March 1967 and lasted 13 days before an agreement was reached with the three networks.

The union, which claims 29,000 members nationally, represents not only performers and announcers but also the newsmen and anchor men at the networks and network-owned broadcast outlets.

Wolff said AFTRA is seeking the three-year contract it usually has with the networks. Its old one-year pact was made in hope the federal wage freeze would have thawed by now, he added.

One of AFTRA's more prominent members—Dick Cavett—has negotiating problems of his own with ABC. The network has proposed putting his late-hour talk show on only one night every two weeks, starting in

Four Apprehended In Station Robbery

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff commended deputies who assisted in the apprehension of four persons believed involved in a grand larceny at the Goldcliff Union 76 Service Station 3:45 p.m. Monday.

Arrested for grand larceny were: Kevin Neal Lawson, 19; Lynn Edward Floyd, 19; Bobby Madden, 18 and a 15-year-old juvenile, all from Columbus.

The arrests were made when Charles Gearhardt, service station attendant, reported the four pulled into the station in a blue Buick and took $65 in one dollar bills.

Gearhardt reported the driver and a passenger got out of the car. While checking the oil, another vehicle came into the station. The driver told Gearhardt to wait on the other customer.

After the second customer left, the driver of the Buick got into the car and left.

Gearhardt went into the island office and noticed money was missing from the box. He notified Sheriff's Authorities that the car was travelling north on U.S. Route 23.

Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown investigated the larceny.

Sheriff's Deputy Billy Huffman spotted the car and followed it before stopping it on Route 23 near Little Walnut.

He was assisted by other deputies arriving on the scene.

The auto was impounded and a search was conducted. Deputy Brown found a red container with marijuana belonging to Floyd. He was charged with illegal possession of an hallucinogen.

Deputies Investigate Accidents

Mark Shaw Jr., 23 Route 4, received minor injuries when he was involved in a single-car accident 10:30 p.m. Monday on the Dawson-Yankee town Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, Shaw was travelling north on Crownover Mill Road, when he failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection.

Travelling through the intersection, the car went off the highway coming to rest in a field.

Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley investigated a single-car accident 2:50 p.m. Monday on the Waterloo-New Holland-Egypt Road.

Phillip M. Morris, 20, Route 1, New Holland, driver of the car, received minor injuries.

Morris stated a tire blew as he was rounding a curve causing him to lose control of the car.

The car rolled over once resting on its wheels.

Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt cited Willy Markham Jr., 16, Route 1,

Orient, for reckless operation and no operator's license after he was involved in a single-car accident 6:45 p.m. Saturday on the Mt. Sterling-Commercial Point Road.
